PUBLIC RECEPTION IN HONOR OF TOGO AT WHITE HOUSE

Japanese Admiral Had Busy Time Seeing Washington and Officials.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Admiral Togo, as the guest of the United States, entered today upon a round of entertainments and receptions, given in his honor by officials of the administration.

This morning at the New Hotel Willard he held a big reception for naval officers. He was visited by Secretary of State Knox, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop and other officials.

This afternoon he was received by President Taft at the White House, after which several hours were spent in seeing the city. Tonight he will dine at the White House, as the guest of the President, following which a public reception will be given in his honor.

CAN'T GET PAY OR RESIGN.

Postmaster of Town That Vanished Begs Hitchcock to Relieve Him.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—A. R. Miller, of Irona, W. V., has a job and can't quit it. He is postmaster at Irona, a fourth-class office, and gets pay for the cancellations of stamps he makes. Some time ago Irona was a thriving coal-mining town of several hundred inhabitants, but now it is the home of empty houses, toads, night owls and bats, because the coal company discontinued its operations there.

Miller has not sold a stamp or anything else in four weeks, but he can't resign until the postoffice department abolishes the office. Miller is here seeking relief and is the only man who has ever gone to a Postmaster General to give up a job.

UNDERWOOD AND LAFOLLETTE CANNOT AGREE ON WOOL BILL

Entire Conference Committee Trying to Reach Compromise.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The debate on the House committee report to discharge Consul General Michael and Disbursing Clerk Morrison for their participiation in the Day portrait scandal was resumed in the House today. The indications are that the House will adopt the report of the committee.

Representative Underwood and Senator LaFollette having failed to agree on a compromise for the wool bill passed by the Senate the full committee met today in an effort to effect a compromise on the bill.

Solicitor McCabe was again on the stand before the committee investigating the charges against Dr. Wiley. He declared that Dr. Wiley was not his superior, despite the fact that the pure food expert is chairman of the pure food board, of which he is also a member.

WINSTON ALDERMEN OUT OF MONEY

Winston, Aug. 5.—It was one request after another for street work, sewer improvement and lights at the meeting of the board of aldermen last night. These came from delegations, in the form of petitions from many citizens and from individuals from all sections of the city. But all received the same answer from the city fathers—no more work can be done of a permanent nature, or where there is any considerable amount of money to be spent, until more funds are provided. The limit has been reached, and it was stated in open meeting that all work of improvement will have to be left at a standstill unless the funds are forthcoming from one or the other of the only two methods at hand—the carrying of the election for bonds on next Tuesday or a considerable increase in the tax rate.

It was definitely decided last night that no more promises shall be made by the aldermen until some definite means of carrying out these promises are in sight. Already more promises have been made than can possibly be fulfilled with the present income of the city. In other words the aldermen let it be known clearly last night that they had done what they could—that they had reached the limit under the present system. In consequence every request for street work was referred to the street committee; requests for the sewer committee were referred to the sewer committee and those for lights were referred to the light committee. Ordinarily such disposition means that but little if anything will be done.

THOUGHT SNAKE AN UMBRELLA

Policeman Has Fierce Battle With Seven-Foot Reptile.

Cincinnati, Aug. 4.—A blacksnake, nearly seven feet long, gave Policeman Beiser a fierce battle yesterday morning, when Beiser, thinking that it was an umbrella, attempted to pick up the reptile.

Beiser was making his rounds and boarded the Sedamsville "owl" car to go down the road to Anderson's ferry. When the car stopped at Steiner avenue the officer, who was standing near the motorman, noticed a black object lying in the road. Thinking it was an umbrella, the officer started to pick it up. His hand had hardly closed over the object when it showed signs of life.

In a flash a big blacksnake had coiled itself around his leg. He kicked himself free and struck at the reptile with his club. The snake came back. Beiser struck at it repeatedly, but it was not dispatched until the car crew went to his aid with a switch iron.

Empress in Critical Condition.

Berlin, Aug. 5.—The condition of Empress Augusta Victoria is considered as critical today. A few days ago the Empress, who has been in bad health for some time, was overcome by the heat and this caused her to become worse rapidly.

Deposed Shah of Persia Is Making Trouble Again; Government Sets Price of $100,000 Upon His Head.

Mohammed Ali Mirza, the deposed shah of Persia, again appears in the limelight as aspiring to recover his throne. He is reported as being near the border of the country, waiting for the opportune moment to strike. His agents have long been doing missionary work in his behalf among his former subjects. The movement has reached such dignified proportions as to lead the government to offer a reward of $100,000 for the ex-shah's head and $25,000 each for the heads of Saler Ed Dowleh and Shua Es Sultaneh, the two Kadjar princes who are his principal supporters. The present sovereign of Persia is Ahmed Mirza, eleven years old, son of the ex-shah.

NEGROES

Who Engaged in Cutting Scrape are Recovering Satisfactorily.

Joe Powell and Norton Summers, the two negroes who seriously wounded themselves in a cutting scrape several days, ago, are recovering satisfactorily from their wounds, no complications having set in in either case. The city physician examined and dressed the wounds this morning and yesterday, and reported that both negroes in the calaboose seem in good spirits and are struggling to regain their health. However, Powell, the more seriously injured man, is not yet out of danger and the trial is necessarily postponed to next week.

SANDLIN SENTENCED TO DEATH CHAIR OCTOBER 13

Wilmington, Aug. 5.—Standing steady and erect, with eyes gazing fixedly at the court, with never the slightest manifestation of nervousness, apparently as indifferent to what was taking place as it is possible for a person to be, L. M. Sandlin, convicted in Superior Court of the murder of his wife, yesterday morning heard the death sentence pronounced upon himself by Judge E. B. Cline, of Hickory, who fixed Friday, October 13th next, as the date of the electrocution at the State penitentiary at Raleigh.

The intense silence of the few seconds immediately following the reading of the death sentence by Capt. W. N. Harriss, deputy clerk of Superior court, was broken by the prisoner himself who stated in clear and distinct tone, "God's will be done, not mine." The voice of the prisoner penetrated every nook and corner of the court room. It was a dramatic moment. These were the first and only words he has spoken in public during the consideration of his case in court.

PISTOL

Ernest Caldwell, a negro of this city, was turned over this morning to the local police authorities by railroad officials and placed in the county jail. Caldwell partook of the delights of the Norfolk excursion and complying with the never-failing rule that some party on these trips steps into trouble, he displayed a revolver recklessly and was promptly taken into custody. The arrest occurred at Reidsville but the negro was more conveniently brought here. His bond was fixed at $25 and if not paid the negro will be taken to Reidsville for trial on Monday.

TWO ADDITIONS TO STREET FORCE

Thornton Millis and Pinkney Lee, negroes convicted yesterday morning in Municipal court and fined $20 and the costs for gambling, recalled their appeals to Superior court for a new trial and being unable to pay their fines, they were this morning sentenced to the city streets for 60 days.

Elmer Slade and S. Sellars, both colored, were tried for an affray with deadly weapons. Slade was guilty of starting the affair and was fined $10 and the costs, while Sellars was taxed with the costs.

D. A. Bodenhamer was found guilty of owning a dog that he had not listed and paying the license check on the canine. Judgment in the case was postponed.

Oscar Garrett for disorderly conduct was fined $5 and the costs.

Ministers to Meet.

The regular meeting of the Ministers' Association will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock in the Ireland class room.

MARINES

Practically in Control of Port au Prince—No Disorder Looked for

Port Au Prince, Aug. 5.—Foreign marines are in practical control of the city today. They assured the people that there would be no further disorder or rioting. Yesterday the factions of the revolutionary troops clashed in the streets, killing several, causing the marines to take charge of the city.

SAW "FLAMING BALL" IN ROOM

Then Meyer Slapoi Yelled "Fire," But There Wasn't Any.

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—Terrorized by a ball of fire, which, he said, entered his bedroom window while he was watching the storm last night, Meyer Slapoi, 126 North Exeter street, assisted by his wife and five children, aroused the neighborhood by shouts of "Fire!" A passerby turned in an alarm from High and Lexington streets.

Slapoi said that he was lying in bed near a window on the third floor of his home, when, he said, a ball of fire about two feet in diameter entered the window and, passing over the heads of his family, vanished out the bedroom door and through the hall window.

In a few minutes two fire engine companies, a hook and ladder and a salvage corps company had responded. The firemen found nothing wrong. While answering the alarm the rain fell in blinding sheets.

Reciprocity Carries Taft.

Washington, Aug. 5.—President Taft has bought a new saddle horse and named it "Reciprocity," according to news which leaked out today.

The horse is the largest that could be found in West Virginia, standing sixteen hands. As soon as the animal arrives in Washington, probably within a day or two, the President will try it out in the city parks.

It is possible that he may take the horse to Beverly.

BRIEF HEARINGS ON COTTON BILL TO BE ALLOWED

Senate Finance Committee Yields to Request of Senator Simmons

Washington, Aug. 5.—As soon as the Senate met today an exceutive session was ordered and the English and French treaties, which were signed by representatives of those countries and which the President transmitted to the Senate yesterday, were referred to the committee on foreign relations, which considered the matter.

Later in the afternoon, yielding to the plea of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, the Senate committee on finance today agreed to hold brief hearings on the cotton revision bill. This does not remove the necessity of reporting the measure next Thursday, but it may postpone the adjournment of Congress for a few days. It was the intention of the finance committee to report the cotton bill adversely today, but Senator Simmons' argument prevailed and certain of his constituents will be heard on the matter.

OXFORD ORPHANS HERE NEXT FRIDAY

The singing class from the Oxford Orphanage will give a concert here next Friday evening. Regarding the concert the committee on arrangements hands in the following for publication:

The Masonic Orphanage in thirty-five years has cared for more than two thousand five hundred helpless and destitute orphans; clothed, fed, sheltered, educated and secured for them homes in good families to begin life, an in which their orphanage training well fitted them for usefulness. There are three hundred and thirty-four children now in the orphanage.

Though handicapped, many of them, by untoward family circumstances, they have made as good citizens as any like number of those of better birth conditions. The cost to create this valuable citizenship is a mere begatelle compared to its great value to the commonwealth.

Ten boys and ten girls of these bright children, now inmates of the orphanage, will give one of their brilliant entertainments in the annex auditorium of West Market church August 11 at 8 p. m.

Their appearance here last year will long be remembered for excellent music, spicy recitations, and sparkling wit and humor. All pastors and Sunday school superintendents are hereby requested to announce the hour, date and place, Sunday to their several audiences.

ETHEL BARRYMORE FIRM

Names Three Co-Respondents and Won't See Husband.

New York, Aug. 5.—The actual service of papers demanding an absolute divorce on the grounds of infidelity by the attorneys representing Ethel Barrymore Colt on her husband, Russel Griswold Colt, son of the Rhode Island multi-millionaire, seemed today only to have strengthened the determination of the relatives of both to try to bring about a reconciliation.

The couple, they say, are very much in love, and the relatives are convinced that if Mrs. Colt would only permit her husband to make a personal explanation the suit would quickly be dropped.

All attempts, however, to get the beautiful actress to consent to a meeting have so far failed.

It is admitted that Mrs. Colt made a hurried trip from Canada to this city during the last few days, signed the papers in her divorce suit and immediately hurried back to Canada, where her son is. Her attorneys then secured service on her husband, Russel Colt, at the Yale Club, where he is living.

Mrs. Colt asks for no alimony, although her husband is rich. She has insisted that no publicity be given the proceedings, and it was almost certain today that the names of the co-respondents—there are said to be three, one of whom is very prominent in society—would not become public.

ROOSEVELT BEFORE STANLEY COMMITTEE TO DEFEND ACTION

New York, Aug. 5.—A sensation was created today when Former President Theodore Roosevelt appeared before the Stanley committee, investigating the United States steel trust. Charles M. Schwab, who was on the stand, made was for the colonel. Col. Roosevelt came before the committee to defend his action regarding the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company by the trust.

Mr. Roosevelt made a statement in which he said: "My action in the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company was my own. Frick and Gary told me of the situation and as an hour's time was vital I acted immediately. The results saved the situation, prevented a panic and restored confidence. Had I not acted as I did I would have been derelict in my duty as a public official. It was necessary that the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company be absorbed to prevent a panic."

This is the first time the ex-President ever appeared before an investigating committee to defend the acts of his administration.

Drank From Tombstone.

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—That a tombstone has another object besides standing as a monument to the dead was proved this morning on Roland avnue, Hampden, by two youngsters. At a stone yard there a stone is being cut. The rain of last night filled a space. The two boys, who were not more than 10 years old, calmly walked up to the stone, and putting their heads, one at a time, over the chalice, drank up the water.

The boys seemed to enjoy the novelty.

LAUNDRYMEN OF CAROLINAS MEET AT WRIGHTSVILLE

Wilmington, Aug. 5.—The Laundrymen's Association of the Carolinas will gather Monday and Tuesday of next week in annual session at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, and the indications are that there will be a very large attendance. Mr. F. D. Lethco, of Charlotte, is president and Mr. H. A. Smith, of Florence, S. C., is secretary and treasurer of the Association, which numbers in its membership the leading laundrymen of the Carolinas. It is expected that there will be at least 75 members in attendance, while a number of them will be accompanied by friends and members of their families.

The first session will be held Monday morning. Rev. W. H. Milton, D. D., rector of St. James' parish, this city, will make the invocation, and Mayor Jos. D. Smith, of Wilmington, will deliver the welcome address. The remainder of the session will be given over to routine business and Monday night a delightful souvenir dance will be given in honor of the visitors.

Tuesday morning the delegates are to enjoy a deep sea fishing trip and the same night in the dining room of the Seashore Hotel, a typical sea-food supper will be served. The delegates for the convention are expected to begin arriving tomorrow and tomorrow night.

SENATOR VARDAMAN.

James K. Vardaman was elected United States Senator in Mississippi, and the fact will cause a goodly number of newspapers of the country to predict dire calamities as a result and to indict long editorials abusing the Senator-elect and condemning the people of Mississippi for preferring him as their representative in the Senate to the eminently respectable Percy and the other eminently respectable gentleman who was after the office. Senator Percy may be an eminently respectable gentleman, but it is practically certain that his election was secured by the use of money and sharp political practices. The third candidate in the race may be a better man than either Vardaman or Percy. The people beyond the confines of his State know but little about him, but it is quite probable that the people of Mississippi know him and it is evident that they did not want him to represent the State in the Senate. There is no evidence to show that Vardaman was elected by the use of money, by fraud or dirty political methods. The reasonable conclusion is that he was honestly elected and that he is the choice of a majority of the honest and unpurchasable voters of the State.

Vardaman, like certain other men in the public life of the country, has been much maligned. He is not so bad as he has been pictured by his enemies. Undoubtedly he does not represent a certain element of the citizenry of his State but he does represent the views, policies and opinions held and professed by a majority of his fellow citizens. Vardaman is a man of some ability and he may give a much better account of himself in the Senate than the country is expecting. At any rate, the views expressed by the Columbia State in the following editorial are a fair summing up of the situation:

"Anyway, Vardaman is the choice of the voters of Mississippi. Evidence is lacking that he was nominated in the primary through fraud or intimidation. The conclusion follows that he is plenty good enough to represent the people of Mississippi. A Vardaman representing the people is better than a Lippit representing the manufacturers who own political as well as carding and spinning machines.

"We can hope for no better government in America than the people can contrive. If the majority of the people of Mississippi are wanting in discrimination, poverty-stricken in education and bankrupt in judgment, that is a sorrowful condition. Meanwhile, reasons are abundant for believing that Vardaman is better than Jeffries Davis of Arkansas, and, on questions of Democratic policy, Davis is more to be depended upon than is Senator Clark of the same State. The latter is, by all accounts, a person of good manners.

"On the whole, we shall not despair of the Republic because of the exaltation of Vardaman. The principal danger to this country is from the Lippits, the Olivers, the Culloms, the Roots, the Lodges and the Gallingers, "all honorable men," and faithful—to the interests they represent. Vardaman may represent the people badly—but, at least he represents the people. Let the people rule."

No news from Missouri yet as to whether the State will support Clark or Folk for the Democratic nomination for President.

There are said to be nearly a million automobile in this country. Some times it looks like a large percentage of the total number are in Greensboro.

The Spartanburg Journal says that everybody in Charlotte is trying to get on the water wagon nowadays. The Journal is mistaken. There are people in Charlotte who do not care two straws for the scarcity of water.

The Clinton News-Dispatch says that Theodore Roosevelt is the greatest man in the world, but its opinion of ex-Governor R. B. Glenn is hardly printable. The views of some newspapers are as peculiar as the views of some individuals.

Senator Simmons and Governor Kitchin have been in the spot-light in the senatorial contest more than Mr. Aycock and Judge Clark, but the concensus of opinion seems to be that the last mentioned gentleman will, nevertheless, be in the running at the finish.

The Raleigh News and Observer is credited in some quarters with being a supporter of ex-Governor Aycock in the senatorial contest. The Telegram has never seen anything in the columns of the News and Observer to warrant this conclusion, while we have noticed that it does not appear to be favorably impressed with the candidacy of Senator Simmons or that of Governor Kitchin.

The Philadelphia Record speaks of cotton as the "Queen" of the Southland, and really grows enthusiastic in contemplating the conditions which prevail in the section where most of the world's cotton is produced, as this quotation from the Record indicates: "Cotton may once have been 'king;' but now she's surely Queen of Dixie. Thirty-odd million acres spread themselves before her, and in her blossoms she scatters broadcast the very truest 'red, white and blue.' Then, before snow falls, she whitens the whole world around her. We're proud of Queen Cotton and proud of Dixieland."

Free Speech Upheld in North Carolina.

The people of North Carolina who from the first day of the settlement of this good State had been willing to sacrifice their lives to preserve freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press and the right to criticize public officials in their public actions, will rejoice to know that at Rockingham superior court this week Judge Lyon ordered the clerk to enter a verdict of "not guilty" in the contempt proceedings brought by the Recorder of Reidsville against Elder L. H. Hardy. The readers of this paper are familiar with the circumstances of this case. There had been a gross miscarriage of justice in the Recorder's court at Reidsville, and it was shown that in a particular case two juries had heard the case and each time there were five for conviction and one for acquittal, and that in other cases it seemed impossible to get ajury to hear a blind tiger case that did not have some body on it that was so hostile to the law that the ends of justice were not met. It has been freely charged and believed in Reidsville that witnesses have been bribed and that there was intimidation so that it was impossible to enforce the law. Then Elder L. H. Hardy, an honored minister of the Primitive Baptist church, wrote a communication to the Webster's Weekly criticizing the failure of the court to meet the demands for which it was created, and asked, "Is it not a farce?" The Recorder, without proper reflection, deemed this an insult to him and adjudged Mr. Hardy guilty of contempt of court, but said he would impose no penalty because of Mr. Hardy's age and because he was a minister of the Gospel. The Recorder, holding that as he imposed no sentence an appeal did not lie, declined to send any papers up to the superior court in the case, and Elder Hardy's attorney got the case in the superior court by certiorari. After the argument of counsel before the court, Judge Lyon stated from the bench, "There is nothing contained in the language of this respondent that could be legally construed as contempt," and then turning to the clerk, said: "Enter a judgment of not guilty." Naturally the friends of Mr. Hardy and those who are zealous for the right of free speech and a free press, crowded around him with congratulations that almost overcame him.

As soon as this matter came to the attention of this paper, it said that this was a matter more far reaching than any judgment upon Elder Hardy; that his reputation was so well established that it could not injure him, and declared that he was doing a great service to the whole State and for the cause of liberty by refusing to rest under the charge that he was guilty of contempt when he had only exercised an inherent right that belongs to every free citizen.

In its first article on this case the News and Observer ventured to express the hope that the Recorder, who had acted upon the idea that Elder Hardy reflected upon him, would see that there was no contempt in the article and of his own motion withdraw the accusation against Elder Hardy.

In clearing himself from any legal charge Mr. Hardy opened the way for a judicial decree that will strengthen the right of free speech and encourage honest ment to criticize public officials who make mistakes. It would be better for this State to have a Czar in it than for it to have a condition under which any man will be at the mercy of a judge or any other public official if he should criticize his public acts. All honor to Mr. Hardy for his fight and all honor to Judge Lyon for his decision!—Raleigh News and Observer.

BUSINESS TELEGRAMS

The woman who is too busy to read the ads is too busy to buy—wisely.

Any store that advertises, today, the article that you want to buy today, is an interesting store to you.

To know what it ought to cost—and to save a worth-while portion of that sum when you buy it, is the privilege of the ad-reader.

If it has earned the right to be your "favorite store," there is sure to be something in its ads today of immediate interest to you.

Ad readers may miss a buying opportunity now and then. Others miss buying opportunities every day of their lives.

When you pay a dollar more than you need to pay for something, simply because you do not read ads, you're not showing very much business ability—do you think?

The workers of the world's factories reveal themselves to you in their handiwork as shown in the stores—and, truly, a great store does much to show us our kinship with and our debt to all sorts and conditions of our fellow beings.

The interesting store's advertisements are interesting. And, as you know, this city has some very interesting stores.

Reciprocity is a growing store-policy. More and more merchants realize that real service and real buying economies alone appeal to the public—and they give these, increasingly, as the store's portion of the tacit bargain with the public.

The buyer of the home supplies who does not follow the ads is using outgrown business methods—to put the case in its milder aspect.

The Downfall of Simon.

It must be said for Gen. Antoine Simon the deposed President of Haiti, that, whatever the defects otherwise, he was at least less cruel and avaricious than his predecessor and noticeably more patriotic. The revolt which landed him in office, in truth, had much more reason and justice behind it than one usually finds in Latin-American uprisings. What Simon sought to obtain, when he took the warpath against Nord Alexis, was not so much office for himself as fair treatment for the Southern provinces of the Black Republic. These provinces, for many years, had suffered much at the hands of the Alexis administration, which was thoroughly Northern in personnel and sympathies. The revenues collected at Aux Cayes, Jeremie and other Southern ports were spent in building railroads and harbors in the North, and large "commissions" went to Northern politicians. Meanwhile the Southern ports themselves fell into wretched decay and the development of the Southern agricultural lands was sadly impeded.

Simon, from 1890 to 1908, was a sort of viceroy in the region below Port au Prince, with the title of Delegate of the South. Nord Alexis kept him in office in order to keep him quiet. But in the fall of 1908 certain doings at Port au Prince exhausted his patience and he served notice that, in future, the customs receipts of Aux Cayes would be retained in the town and spent there upon necessary public works. Nord Alexis responded by accusing Simon of fraud and by sending one Georges Sejourne, an Administration bravo, to take charge of the Aux Cayes customs house. But before Sejourne could accomplish that mission Simon was in the field—and two weeks later he was at the gates of Port au Prince. The revolution was entirely a Southern affair. Before the Northern loyalists could come to Nord Alexis' rescue Simon had driven him out and seized the government.

Simon was now in office, but his weakness was apparent from the start. The old Nord Alexis crowd, suddenly deprived of its ancient grafts, at once laid plans for regaining them, and within a few months several war parties were in the field. Simon tackled them one by one, and for a time was successful against them, but in the long run he was doomed to failure, for he had only the thinly populated South behind him, and in the North there were plenty of leaders, plenty of recruits and plenty of money. The contest quickly became savage. Both sides burned and butchered. But on the Northern side were the largest battalions, and by May of the present year the whole North had slipped from Simon's grasp and the Southern coast towns were beginning to fall. Finally the Alexists marched upon Port au Prince and Simon was forced to flee.

Haiti with Simon an exile is in measurably worse case than Haiti with Simon in the saddle. No doubt a struggle for the Presidency will now ensue, with Firmin, Leconte and Gilles as the principal candidates. Gilles was Nord Alexis' favorite apprentice in statesmanship and would have succeeded him had the old barbarian died in office; Leconte was Alexis' confidential agent in apportioning the spoils of office, and Firmin was his representative in Europe. Three sweet-smelling "patriots!" No matter which of them Haiti chooses, the choice will be a bad one.—Baltimore Sun.

Put "Punch" Into Your Advertising

When you are attacked by someone who wants to do you bodily injury, if you are the average American man, you straighten out your body and give the miscreant a direct hit from the shoulder that lays him out—a candidate for the hospital.

That is called punch.

But there are other kinds of punch. Every kind of human action originated by a human being may be strong or weak according to the energy put into it by the person. The effect of those actions on the rest of the world, or on any particular person, when those actions make a deep and paralyzing impression, is called punch. We talk about the punch of a theatrical play, meaning the strong permanent blow of its action on the feelings of the audience. A story has punch and the most ordinary clerk in your store can give punch to his daily work and life that will leave a lasting impression on the people with whom he comes into contact. It is punch that makes you successful—without punch you can not even hope to start on the road to prosperity.

Punch should enter into every action of your life. If you pray, put punch into it. If you sell goods in your store, put punch into the selling talk. Punch shows sincerity just the same as that blow from the shoulder on the part of the man. If you look a woman or man in the face, put punch into the arguments and suggestions you use to sell the goods, you will create an impression that you believe in what you sell and that fact alone goes a long way towards consummation of the sale.

When you look carefully over the written accounts of the men and women who have made history and been really great you will find innumerable instances of punch, showing clearly that success was built on it, as much as on their other actions.

Many men and women believe all that is necessary to secure success in life is to conceive an idea or set of ideas and carry out the actions in connection therewith along well defined rules. They even become imitative and follow the rules laid down by the great men and women I have enumerated. That is the road to failure. No matter how good your plans are or well laid the methods of carrying them out, you must put punch into their execution to make them successful.

When you want to make your business a success, and you know that the highest grade of salesmanship, both inside and outside your store is necessary to that success—be sure you also allow for punch in the execution of your plans. In your publicity, for instance, you need punch in the salesmanship used. No matter what your business, you require punch in that salesmanship to impress your goods on the minds of the people and make them remember you sufficiently long and earnestly to buy. It is just the same punch as is referred to in connection with the theatrical play. Unless that play has punch it would not leave a sufficiently good impression on the play-goers to make them criticise it to its advantage. Use punch, then, in your advertisements. Punch home "straight from the shoulder" into the minds of the prospective customer and he or she will remember you longer and more favorably than all possible rivals.

As you already know, there are four points to a successful advertisement that must be made operative before it can be successful. It must capture the attention of the prospective customer; it will have to create interest in his or her mind and it must afterwards bring conviction that the goods are what they are represented to be and that they are needed by the prospect. Lastly, the advertisement must cause the actual purchase of the goods.

Any man who has studied advertising closely can very easily combine all those principles in some sort of way, but it requires an expert to combine them successfullly.

A selesman in your store may easily apply all the rules of selling to the customer that comes in, but he may not be successful through lack of forcefulness—punch. It is the same with an advertisement. You need punch—the appearance of forceful honesty and convincing power in the wording and expression of the ad to bring the results that you have a right to expect from it.

It is punch that makes all the difference between success and failure in the advertisements of our greatest retailers. It is punch that will bring success to you through your announcements and unless you are able to incorporate punch into them, you may as well do no advertising at all.

The best way to get advertisements that have not only the necessary punch but that are constructed in every way to bring results is to buy a syndicated advertising service. This service is offered in a series of 52, one advertisement for each week in the year. Each ad is supplied along with an attention compelling copperplate cut, the illustration drawn by a high priced artist. The whole series has been constructed by an advertising expert with a national reputation who has made success for many other merchants in the same position as yourself. It would be impossible to buy those advertisements for the low price at which they are sold—from one dollar per week up—but for the large numbers of each kind that are sold to thousands of retailers throughout the country. Only one merchant in each trade is allowed to use a service in his own town.

The retailers here would do well to get full particulars of this new syndicated advertising service from the business manager of The Telegram. The use of such salesmanship on paper—which may be called advertising with punch in it—is the straightest road to advertising success.

GUILFORD'S AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION DIRECTOR.

K. H. McIntyre, Director of Agricultural Education in Guilford county, is on a visit to friends at Holly Springs, where he made such a marked success of the Wake county high school there. Guilford is the pioneer in North Carolina to elect a Director of Agricultural Education who works with the county superintendent of schools. It was fortunate in selecting Mr. McIntyre for this position. It was his school at Holly Springs that was so warmly commended throughout the United States for its practical work. They have an excellent high school there. In Guilford, Mr. McIntyre has a farm connected with each of the three high schools in the county and at a large meeting of farmers the other day he told them, though this had been a bad season, he was not ashamed for them to compare these farms at the three high schools with any farm in the county.

The people of the whole State are watching with interest this new departure which Guilford is making for its own benefit and for the benefit of the State. The greatest progress made in North Carolina in the past ten years has been in agriculture and this progress seems but an earnest of what is to be made of the future. Keep your eyes on Guilford.—Raleigh News and Observer.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Jeremiah Tried and Acquitted.
Jer. xxvi.

Golden Text—The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? Ps. xxvii:1.

(1.) Verses 1-6—What was the character of Jehoiakim, also of Josiah, his father?

(2.) To whom did the word of the Lord come?

(3.) How did God probably speak to Jeremiah?

(4.) May all persons to-day, with the goodness and ability of Jeremiah, hear the voice of the Lord as distinctly as he did?

(5.) What was the message which the Lord gave Jeremiah to deliver?

(6.) If the people had repented at the command of the Lord, would the kingdom of Judah have been preserved?

(7.) Why can there be no escape for sinners, from the just punishment of their sins, unless they repent?

(8.) Verses 7-10—How do you account for it that the priests and the prophets wanted to kill Jeremiah, for delivering the message that God had given him?

(9.) If a professional priest, or preacher, is backslidden and living in sin, why is he apt to be more cruel to a faithful preacher of righteousness than an ordinary sinner?

(10.) From the days of Jesus until now, by whom have the martyrs been put to death, or, admittedly men of God, expelled from the churches?

(11.) Which are the more cruel to those who rebuke them, men who under cover of religion are doing wrong, or outstanding sinners such, for example, as gamblers?

(12.) Verses 11-12 — Did these priests and prophets, who wanted to put Jeremiah to death for preaching the truth, believe that he was wrong and they right; or knowing he was right, want to get rid of him for exposing their sins?

(13.) What qualities did Jeremiah possess which are essential to all who obey God in rebuking sin?

(14.) Must a good man always rebuke what he knows to be wrong no matter how much danger it may involve to himself? Give your reasons.

(15.) Is it the lack of knowledge that they are wrong, or something else, which causes people to remain in sin?

(16.) Verses 13-15—Do you know of any Bible threat against sinners, that is not associated with a promise of forgiveness on repentance?

(17.) Is it possible for a good man to die, or be put to death, before his work is done? Why?

(18.) Verses 16-26—The priests and the prophets are the accusers of Jeremiah and want to put him to death, and the princes and people appear to be the judge and jury; what was their verdict and upon what was it based?

(19.) Is it safe in these days to trust the people to decide moral issues? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(20.) What were the two historic incidents mentioned as precedents, for the acquittal of Jeremiah?

(21.) What has been the fate in the past of true and courageous prophets, and how are they treated to-day?

(22.) Which is better, to faithfully do the will of God at the expense of our lives, or to dodge His will and save our lives?

CORPORATION COMMISSIONER BLOCKS STEEL INVESTIGATION

(By JONATHAN WINFIELD.)

Washington, Aug. 5—Democratic members of the House are beginning to consider a plan for an amendment to the existing law which provides that the Commissioner of Corporations, clothed in authority to hunt down the trusts, shall make a report only to the President, and that the data collected by the commissioner shall not be available for the use of Congress unless the President so wills.

The House committee investigating the steel trust has run up against this snag, and, greatly to the disgust of the committee, it has been impossible to extract any information of value from Herbert Knox Smith, who as commissioner of Corporations, has been busy for several years presumably in an investigation of the trusts and large corporations of the country.

"Such a construction of the law is an utter absurdity," said Representative Martin Littleton, a member of the steel investigating committee. "It is preposterous to think that a co-ordinate branch of this government has in its possession information needed by another branch, and that we are to be denied access to the records."

Commissiner Smith, however, remained firm in his refusal to tell the House committee anything about the steel trust except what he had printed in his preliminary report. The commissioner even refused to furnish the committee with a table of the information upon which he had based his report, and he could offer the House investigators no aid whatever "unless the President gives his consent."

The law creating the Bureau of Corporations provided that the commissioner should have authority to probe any corporation believed to be a possible monopoly in restraint of trade. He was given the power to demand the production of books, documents and cost sheets and the commissioner's word is presumed to be an open sesame to the inner workings of any trust in the United States.

The commissioner "investigated" for several years the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries. The Stanley committee of the House recently was authorized to conduct a sweeping investigation of its own, and after it had proceeded into the subject for several weeks Commissioner Smith was asked to aid the committee in order that it might not take the back track over some of the ground already covered by the authorized government agent.

Mr. Smith appeared before the committee, but he told it little. His noncommittal answers exasperated the members so that it was stated that the law must be changed.

So far as being of aid to the House investigating committee is concerned, the Bureau of Corporations might as well not be in existence. The bureau makes its report to the President, and the President alone, under the present law, is given authority to make the reports public.

During the last national campaign it was charged that the work of the bureau had been used to extract large contributions from various corporations who gave aid to the Republican cause. Democratic members attacked the idea on the ground that the Federal government had an unfair advantage; that it had access to the books of these large concerns, while the Democratic party had no such access, and the trusts were under no obligations to Demoracy.

Now the latest muddle has arisen, and it is not out of reason to say that the Democrats, now in control of the House, are going to demand a change in conditions unless the President evinces his willingness to turn over to the House committee some of the data which it has taken the commissioner several years to corral.

When the steel trust was asked for its cost sheets, the expert accountant sent to the offices of the trust by the committee was told that the cost sheets "had been sent to the commissioner of corporations," and that therefore they could not be furnished. When the commissioner himself was put upon the witness stand he testified that the cost sheets had been returned to the company some time ago, and that they were not now in the possession of the bureau. The House committee was baffled. It thereupon asked Commissioner Smith to outline some of the information revealed by the cost sheets.

"I cannot do this without the authority of the President," said Mr. Smith. "I will talk the matter over with the President to see if he is willing that I should furnish the committee with any of this data. In the event that Mr. Taft does not object I may be able to furnish the commitotee with some information, but, for the present, I must refer you to my printed report."

That caused Representative Littleton and others to remark that such a law is foolish.

"Here we are attempting to show that the United States Steel Corporation is a combination in restraint of trade," said Chairman Stanley. "Certain information collected at government expense, is in the hands of the Commissioner of Corporations, but this commitotee, which is earnestly seeking to establish the truth, s denied the privilege of examining tne records. This is a most peculiar state of affairs, and it ought to be remedied."

The troubles of the Stanley committee were again emphasized when it attempted to show through the previous investigation of the commissioner of corporations that the International Harvester Company and the steel trust are virtually the same, and the same group of financiers are behind both concerns. Commissioner Smith again called before the committee, but it extracted nothing from him except that he would talk the matter over with the President, and that if the latter did not object he would furnish the committee with such evidence as the Bureau of Corporations might have upon the subject.

Commissioner Smith admitted that the bureau had been investigating the International Harvester Company and that it had in its possession considerable information, but once more he was firm in his stand that he could give none of the data desired by the committee. The attorney general has held, said Mr. Smith in excuse of his action, that this confidential information is only for the eyes of the President and that it must not be made public even at the request of a co-ordinate branch of the government unless the President gave his consent.

Unless the information desired by the House investigators is forthcoming, the law governing the Bureau of Corporations probably will be changed at the next session, so that the data gathered by the Commissioner shall be available for the use of Congress in the event that either branch of Congress has need of it.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, saltrheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

NEW PRISON CELLS IN NEW CALABOOSE

The city has awarded the contract for the new cells to be placed in the new calaboose, and they will be here inside of a month. The cement floor has been laid and everything is practically in readiness for the cells when they arrive. Six new cells have been ordered and with the three now in the old calaboose ample room will be afforded for prisoners unless the criminals of the city become more numerous than they are at present.

The cells were ordered through L. Moseley from the E. T. Barnum Company, Detroit, Mich. Each cell will be of a good quality of steel and will be equipped with double bunks. This will enable the officers to accommodate two prisoners in a cell if necessary.

Lamb Delicacy.

Lamb liver is a delicacy which is not served as often as it might be. The chef of a famous hotel gives the following rule for preparing it: Cut the liver into slices, lay the slices, carefully separated from each other, on a platter and pour over them almost enough olive oil to cover them. Sprinkle with minced parsley and let them stand half an hour, then drain them, dredge with salt and pepper, roll them in grated bread crumbs and boil them over a clear fire or under the steady flame of a gas range. When done serve them with maitre d'hotel butter.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 5.—New York articles say that yesterday's erratic market reflected the measure of strength of the opposing factions. The bull crowd is headed by Mr. Price with large Wall Street capital at the back, against the bear crowd led by Mr. Scales. The market is no longer a one-sided affair and a lively contest for supremacy is looked for. Many wires this morning were all bearish, speaking of a weakened technical position by the elimination of the short interest and predicting further liquidation and decline. This caused further weakness here this morning, October selling to 10.95 around the opening but the market steadied later on Saturday covering, unsettled weather outlook and better spot demand. The map shows partly cloudy to fair in the entire belt and general showers in the northwestern quarter and Atlantic States with heavy rains along the Atlantic Coast. Little rain over night in the central belt.

Indications are for generally fair and hot in Texas, unsettled and showers in Oklahoma and Arkansas. Partly cloudy in the central belt, occasional showers. Cloudy and showery in the eastern belt with a rainstorm on the Georgia and South Carolina coast. Weather lines suggest an early storm formation in the South Atlantic also. Houston shows 16,360 bales of new cotton to date against 2,315 last year. Galveston shows 8,007 new against 1,604. Houston advises that there is a good demand for early cotton, and middling is quoted there at 12 1-4 which quite a distance from the present October price of 11 cents. San Antonio wires this morning to a spot house here for spot offers for August sailing. Market developments next week depend principally on whether the present demand for early cotton keeps up and sustains values, whether the demand for forward shipments will increase now that the political outlook no longer hampers business and weather developments.

MILLINERY FOR RUSTIC WEAR

Macaw Rosettes and an Aigrette Made of a Broom Are Novel Features.

Listen to the tale of a girl who will summer in the country. To wear with a linen of the natural hue she has a charming shady hat, made of uncommonly coarse and bumpy and ridgy rustic straw, almost twigs, and trimmed under the brim, not one scrap on the top except where a trio of entwined ribbons, bright blue, green and red, were thrust through the twigs, tied in a ferocious great knot, and thrust back again!

All underneath there were masses of "the little red flower that grows in the wheat," and green clover, and blue speedwells, and tiny brown grasses and berries, and all sorts of darling little things almost lining the brim, while the macaw ribbons tied underneath in a group of three "rosettish" bows, each color separately, and it all had a charming rustic air, and will also go with a brown muslin frock, with a beautiful bit of barbaric embroidery embodying all these colors just introduced as a waistcoat!

But, we are passing over a hat that its owner made herself (some girls are so clever!) It is trimmed with a splendid great, bushy osprey obtained by robbing a new household broom of its best brisltes, and fixing them in explosion style!

CHEAP FINERY IS CAUSE

We see hats covered with broderie Anglaise and trimmed with aigrettes, also applique lace on fine straws and some tulle and muslin hats, while lingerie sunshades will appear in hundreds, and it will be difficult to prevent them from becoming common.

The only thing to do is to have good embroidery, because, even if imitations do intrude, the real thing always keeps its little note of aloofness and distinction, just as do the really good lingerie chemisettes and jabots.

The love of cheap finery is gradually but surely weaning the women of the poorer classes to untidiness and general bad dressing, whereas in the old days they were dainty and neat, as it is possible to be when life is all hard work and very small wages. It also affects women in a higher grade of life, for nowadays the woman of a little means has two or three where she used to have but one and she is none the better dressed for her new fashion.

LATEST FANCY IN KIMONOS

Blouses Made of Eyelet Embroidery, Thin or Thick, as May Be Desired.

Among the new fancies of the lingerie people are kimono blouses made of eyelet embroidery, thin or thick. The design is not very open, and the blouse is cut in the well-known jumper shape. It can be worn over another kimono blouse of china silk, white or colored, or it can be worn merely over a dainty corset cover run through with pink ribbon.

It should have a guimpe of net or lace, as the sleeves are rather wide and somewhat short and expose too much of of the arm for any occasion except house wear. As it is quite the fashion to wear flesh-colored slips under one's blouses the idea may be carried out with artistic result under these eyelet kimonos.

One should finish the elbow sleeves of the under slip with a three-inch hem of net, plain or dotted, or an equally wide band of lace.

Frequently Its Buying Power Is Actually Doubled!

YOUR DOLLARS vary in value as they vary in purchasing power. The man or woman who studies advertisements is able, frequently, to make one dollar do the usual work of two.

And the experienced reader of advertisements will always make a dollar command a premium—make it buy more than a dollar's worth, as figured on "ruling prices" of things.

How much "above par" are the dollars in your pocket worth? It will depend on how closely you study the buying opportunities outlined in the store ads.

TOM SOPWITH, the young English aviator who recently came to America, has been doing some remarkable feats in his aeroplane. His reputation was made in England when he won a prize of $10,000 by making the longest flight from English soil across the channel to the continent. He landed in Belgium, making his flight only two days before the date set for the closing of the competition. He afterward flew in his aeroplane to Windsor castle, where he was received by King George. He and his sister took luncheon with the English ruler and his family. Sopwith has recently been flying around New York and has carried several passengers, notably Timothy L. Woodruff, former lieutenant governor of New York, and Mrs. Woodruff. He made several flights with Mrs. Woodruff, taking her long distances and to a considerable height. One day when Mr. Woodruff was wanted suddenly Sopwith flew out on the golf links, found the politician and brought him back in his machine. In the picture above Mr. Sopwith and his sister appear in the center of the photograph, his manager being on his right, with his mechanicians to his left and on the ground before him.

Newburg, Ala.—"For more than a year," writes Myrtle Cothrum, of this place, "I suffered with terrible pains in my back and head. I had a sallow complexion, and my face was covered with pimples. Our family doctor only gave me temporary relief.

New Pastor Friends Church Arrived Today

Earle J. Harold, late pastor in charge of Friends Meeting at Worcester, Mass., arrived this morning from Adamsville, R. I., to take up the pastorate here of Friends Asheboro Street Meeting.

Mr. Harold is stopping temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. David White, West Market street, and will preach at the morning and evening services tomorrow. Next week he will be in attendance at the Yearly Meeting at Guilford College, it being customary for the church here to omit the 11 o'clock service on Sunday of Yearly Meeting the 13th, because so many Greensboro Friends wish to be at Guilford that day.

On the arrival of Mrs. Harold and children a few weeks hence they will occupy the parsonage on East Lee street.

Found—Two Pigs.

When Frank Brooks was going over his lumber yard this morning he saw a crate containing two squealing pigs by the side of the railroad track. An investigation showed that the crate had been in the same place for two days. As they had been without food or water for that time the pigs were quite weak, but proper nourishment soon caused them to rally. They were turned over to the city. Later the pigs were carried to the farm of J. C. Olive, who will raise them unless the owner is found. Who placed the pigs there is not known.

Autoists Return From Trip to Atlantic City

W. J. Sherrod, accompanied by Hugh Pinnix and June Reitzell with the latter at the wheel of the big White touring car, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, completing a run from Greensboro to New York and various cities and return shortly before 6 o'clock. They report a fine trip, unmarred with accidents but replete with pleasant and exciting incidents that added enjoyment to the journey. Their declarations of a splendid vacation were plainly corroborated by the handsome coats of tan that each tourist bears as the outward evidence of the trip.

The party left Greensboro at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of July 13. Rocky Mount, Va., Winchester, Va., and Philadelphia successively harbored the company on their stops for the night. The destination of the party, Atlantic City, was reached on the morning of July 16. Two weeks were spent enjoying the pleasures of that famous resort. New York was then visited and for four days the party viewed the sights of the Metropolis and the return journey was started on August 1.

Stopping at Philadelphia the first night, the trip to New Market, Va., a distance of 260 miles, was made the following day. On the 3rd the party turned out of their path for a visit to the famous Luray caverns that lie across the mountains from the Shenandoah valley pike that was being followed. Roanoke, Va., was the stop-over for the night, and the day's run yesterday brought them safely to Greensboro.

The National Highway chosen by the New York Herald and Atlanta Journal was the route followed during the entire trip. On the northward journey the only trouble was a blow-out and a pair of punctures, while on the return no trouble whatever was experienced with the automobile. Over 2100 miles was the entire distance covered. The trip was made in two and a half days of running time, which is about half the time that was required by the endurance run made last year over the same route.

Coal Trestle for Power & Armstrong

The Southern Railway Company has just completed for the Power and Armstrong Company a coal tressle 450 feet long, built of cypress and all pile driven. This gives a storage capacity for coal of over four thousand tons, thus making the Power and Armstrong coal yard one of the largest and best equipped in the South. It is the intention of the Southern Ice & Cold Storage Co. to install this coming winter a 50 ton ice machine along with their present machine. This will give an ice making capacity of over 75 tons a day and eliminate the trouble and annoyane heretofore existing in Greensboro over the delivery and shipment of ice, caused by none of the plants having adequate facilities for supplying the trade.

Mr. Armstrong and family, who are now at Saranac Lake, N. Y., where Mr. Armstrong went to spend the summer months for his health, has in the short time there improved very much and hopes to return in the early winter to have the extensions perfected so as to have the new ice machine ready to supply ice during the early summer.

THE WORST HOOKWORM CASE KNOWN TO HISTORY.

Wilmington, Aug. 5.—What Dr. Stiles considers the severest case of the hookworm disease he has ever seen, is being treated at the Marine Hospital here, where Dr. Stiles is conducting a series of experiments and making scientific investigations into the nature of the malady.

The patient is a 16-year-old boy, whose weight is only 62 pounds. The case was brought here on request of Dr. Ferrell, of the State Board of Health, in the hope that the skilled care and attention that could be given the lad here would save his life.

He is said to be the most severe case of the hookworm infection ever found in North Carolina, and possibly other states. At the hospital various microscopic tests have been made and by means of these it is shown that counting perfect health as 100 the boy makes a sore of only 14. Had the case been allowed to continue death would have necessarily resulted soon. At the hospital the case is being followed very closely, and while no definite statements have been made it is thought by the physicians that the boy's life can be saved.

Man Who Struck It Rich In Copper Wants To Settle Down.

Minneapolis, Aug. 4.—Harry Sundberg, a former Minneapolis theological student, who invested a $50,000 legacy in Montana copper mines, winning a fortune estimated at $750,000, returned today from Norway.

When he arrived in Norway he found 32 proposals for marriage forwarded from the Hotel Radisson, Minneapolis. He read them all, he says, and decided to return to Minneesota and settle down on a farm.

"I believe I am fairly entitled to rank with Scotty of Death Valley," said Sundberg: "I cannot understand why so many women wanted to marry me unless they wanted my money. I am a soldier of fortune, but I have made my fortune. My trip to Europe cost me $10,000. I was gone three months. The card sharks on the steamboat allowed me to win a few times, then they won. I have decided to settle down."

Sense in Short Sentences

Women see through a thick wall to see what isn't on the other side.

Nearly all women are convinced in their hearts that things are other than they seem.

Women hate rules and love exceptions. There is no woman who does not believe herself an exception to a rule. Most men know that they are not and wish that they were.

Genius arises when the imagination of the woman is added to the intellect of the man.

Nature doesn't lways distribute her gifts with discretion. There is the man with whiskers and a bald head, for instance.

It may be hard for a girl to love her enemies, but she invites them all to her wedding, anyhow.

One mother-in-law is neough to convince the average man that polygamy is all wrong.

It has been frequently stated that all figures will not lie, but many figures are misleading, as any dressmaker or tailor can inform you.

A man's curiosity never reaches the feminine standard until someone tells him his name was in yesterday's paper.

Brown—Yes; I can't stand the infernal racket here any longer.—Portland Oregonian.

"Yes, our whole fire department made a desperate effort to save the property at the fire last night."

"Did they turn in a second alarm?"

"They didn't have to. It was the distillery."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FATHER AND MOTHER

(By VIRGINIA HARLAN.)

Possibly there are some girls who consider that parents have no right to interfere with their love affairs. Having come to this conclusion, some girls go a step further, and, after an attempt at interference, argue that they are justified in deceiving their parents. "It is my life, and I have a right to do as I like with it, and if I choose to let Ted make love to me, or to become engaged to him, or to marry him, I will do so," a girl will tell herself. And she will probably say something of the same sort to her lover, and it is about a million to one that he will agree with her and do all he can to make her act up to her independent views.

I think every girl has a right to argue with her parents if they wish to end a love affair, but at the same time she should listen to their objections. But if a girl is not convinced that her parents' views are correct, or, indeed, knows that they are wrong, yet cannot convince them what should she do then? The more courageous course is to say openly that she will stick to her lover, though it must be conceded that in some cases this would mean that she could see but little of him.

There are cases, though I hope they are rare, when parents are so unreasonable or so selfish that a girl is justified in doing what she considers is best for her own happiness. For instance, a father or mother try to make their daughter marry a fellow who is weak willed, or a gambler, merely because he has some money, and discourage the one the girl lives who is a hard worker, and steady. In such a case it is not wrong for the girl to go against her parents.

Let there be as little secrecy as possible. The less secrecy the greater the subsequent happiness, may be taken as a rule to which there are few exceptions. After all, no girl with grit can be forced to marry a man she does not want for a husband—the days for that sort of thing are past. And bear in mind that a man will find the way to marry you so long as you are ready to wait for him.

STATEHOOD RESOLUTION TO PASS THE SENATE

Poll Shows Joint Resolution Admitting Arizona and New Mexico to Statehood Will Pass Senate—Will End Long Fight if Resolutions Pass.

Washington, Aug. 5.—A poll of the Senate today indicates that the joint resolution, admitting the territories of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood, will pass the upper House with colors flying when it comes up Monday for consideration. Only some unforseen contingency, say the backers of the measure, can defeat the favorable legislation conceded on all sides. If the resolution does pass the Senate it will end a fight for statehood that has endured for over sixty years in the case of New Mexico and for nearly twenty in Arizona.

So sure are the backers of the measure that success awaits them in the senate that large delegations from New Mexico and Arizona are today preparing to celebrate the history-making legislation on an extensive scale. Conferences with their respective delegates, Ralph Henry Cameron of Arizona, and William H. Andrews of New Mexico, are in order; and everywhere about the hotel lobbies groups of enthusiastic Westerners are discussing the optimistic outlook of Monday.

The cause of the long delay in admitting New Mexico and Arizona to statehood lies in the ultra-progressive constitution of the latter. Exception was taken by the legislators in Washington to the Arizonian provision for the recall of the judiciary, and in many quarters the initiative, referendum and recall features in general were also viewed askance. The antagonism that these progressive features called forth, coupled with a refusal of certain members of Congress to permit the admission of either territory separately, for a long time defeated their efforts to gain admission to statehood.

To obviate discussion upon that question, the recall for the judiciary, the United States Senate, in its vote tomorrow upon the joint statehood resolution, will tack on an amendment providing that the recall provision of the Arizona constitution must be construed as not applying to the judiciary. This amendment must be agreed to by the people of Arizona before they get statehood, but as their constitution provides for its amendment at any time within three months they will probably interpose no objection. Statehood at the present session is the wish of every one in the territory, and the recall of the judiciary can be left out or put back, as the majority wishes, once statehood is attained.

The Arizona constitution is modeled largely after the Oregon constitution, and is admitted to be, by those who have examined it the most modern of all the present day popular government "experiments." It provides for the initiative, referendum and recall, which is extended to include the judiciary of the territory. It was this last feature that President Taft opposed, and while he has been committed all along to statehood for the two territories, he insisted he could not and would not approve this extreme constitutional provision, and it is to be cut out to secure Presidential sanction.

New Mexico goes almost as far to the other extreme in her constitution. It is a staid, practically unamendable, fundamental law, containing a variety of the best features from the constitutions of other States, with the exception of the method of dealing with corporations, in which it stands alone among the States. The New Mexico constitution provides for a corporation commission of three elected by the people and having direct supervision over all corporations doing business in the new State. Te peculiar feature consists in an automatic transfer of matters before the commission to the supreme court of the territory in cases where a corporation fails to carry out the instructions of the commission within a time specified. This, t is claimed by the drafters of the constitution, will do away with the interminable delay which can be brought about in other States by injunctions sued out by corporations.

Nominally New Mexico is Republican by about 5,000 majority, while Arizona is about equally divided between the two parties, with the Democrats having a slight advantage. Arizona, however, has a large number of progressives in both parties, and contains greater proportion of American-born citizens than does New Mexico, where probably 50 per cent of the people are of Spanish decent, although natives of the territory, descendants of the earZly Spanish settlers.

There is a spirit of concession among all elements in Congress, and whereas a few weeks ago, it was practically decided that the question of statehood could wait until the next session, just as well as not, the territories jointly have waged such a campaign for immediate statehood, that it probably will be given them at this session.

As a consequence of the unsettled condition of the statehood question, hundreds of telegrams and letters, not only from the territories but from everyone they could influence in the States, have poured into Washington begging for action this session. It was pointed out that all business was at a stand still, outside capital was not being invested, enterprises all over both territories were being held in abeyance pending statehood, and everything was in a generally demoralized condition. This has had its effect, and when the agreement for a vote on reciprocity and other measures was proposed, friends of the territories refused to become parties to it, until statehood was included.

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS GENEROUS TO THE FEDERAL PENSIONERS

Made Only Democratic Ex-Union Soldier in House Chairman of Pension Committee —Will Help to Increase Pensions of Deserving Federal Veterans.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.)

Washington, August 5.—With a large proportion of their membership made up of representatives from the South, scores of whom are sons of former Confederate soldiers, the Democrats of the House have adopted a more liberal pension policy toward the old Union soldiers than has ever before been recorded in the history of the government.

There is no better evidence of the cessation of sectional feeling than is shown in the fact that these Southern Democrats have joined with their brethren from the North in committing the Democratic party in the House to a measure which will add between 20 and 25 millions of dollars for the next few years to the pension rolls of the country, which now aggregate more than $150,000,000 annually.

Never before has there been a movement undertaken to treat so liberally the old soldiers as that which now constitutes a part of the program of the Democratic House. In authorizing the House committee on invalid pensions to report the Sherwood dollar-a-day service pension bill, the Democrats have committed themselves to that legislation.

It means relief and comfort to the old veterans who are rapidly answering the last roll call.

When the Democrats assumed control of the House and organized its committees, they did a gracious thing. They selected as the chairman of the committee on invalid pensions, the body which has to do with the claims of the veterans the only Democratic Union soldier in either branch of Congress, General Isaac R. Sherwood.

The fact that there are only four Union soldiers in the present House, which in itself shows that those who formerly bore arms in defense of their country have almost disappeared from the theatre of political activities. Besides General Sherwood, who represents the ninth Ohio district, there are only three others who wore the blue in the sixties. They are Representative Thistlewood of Illinois, Representative Bradley of New York, and Representative Bingham of Pennsylvania, the "Father of the House," all Republicans.

There are only seven members of the House who were former Confederates, all of them Democrats.

Thirty-five years ago, General Sherwood served one term in the House. He was then a Republican. Four years ago he was returned as a Democrat, and since that time he has been fighting for his "Dollar-a-day" service pension bill, but under the Republican regime he was unable to get consideration for it. Instead the Republicans of the House passed the Sulloway age pension bill, carrying, according to various estimates, from 45 to 75 millions of additional appropriation. The Senate failed to act upon it, and it was represented that if it had been passed the President would have vetoed it.

When General Sherwood was made the chairman of the committee it was conceded that his appointment meant the enactment of the dollar-a-day pension measure which recognizes merit and service rather than age as the basis upon which the gratuities of the government should be bestowed upon veterans. When this measure came up for consideration in a recent Democratic caucus, it was a representative from the South, Mr. Underwood, who moved that it was the sense of the caucus that the measure should be reported to the House and constitute a part of the Democratic program. There was but one vote in dissent.

The measure has an exemption clause, which excludes from its benefits any soldier who has a yearly income of $1,000 for the reason that it is figured that men who have incomes of this amount are not in need of additional aid from the government. Between 20 and 25 per cent of the old soldiers who would otherwise obtain advances in their pensions are thus excluded, while the benefits of the legislation will go to the poor and needy. There is further provision in the bill much approved by the veterans, which stipulates that any soldier who under the measure draws a pension of $30 a month shall not be eligible to be cared for in a national soldiers' home. This will not only save the government a large sum in the maintenance of these homes, but will enable the veterans to live outside of the homes on their own resources, as many of them desire to do.

Because of the contemplated adjournment of Congress during August, it will not be possible to pass the dollar-a-day bill at this session, but inasmuch as it is a part of the legislative program it will be taken up and passed at the regular session. Its enactment at this session would be of no advantage to the soldiers for the reason that the appropriation for pensions for the current year has already been made. In fact, it was made by the last Congress and any increase, such as contemplated under the Sherwood bill would not be available until the beginning of the next fiscal year, on July 1, 1912.

Should the Sherwood bill pass, as is now planned, the pension appropriation act of the coming regular session will be based upon the proposed increase. It is said that the President is not opposed to the service pension bill, as he is to the age pension bill, and the injustice of the latter measure is pointed out in that it would grant an increase to a 90 day soldier who happened to have reached a certain age, even though he never saw an enemy or fired a gun, while it would give no recognition to another soldier who may have served for three or four years and had not reached a certain stipulated age. Merit and service rather than age are made the basis of the measure to which the majority of the House have committed themselves, and the old soldiers are reasonably assured of its enactment.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

PATRIOTS LOST TO WINSTON YESTERDAY

Winston-Salem, Aug. 5.—Approaching the eighth inning with the score tied, the Twins started one of those thing called batting rallies, Stewart leading with a double after one had been retired and three others following with drives that fetched in two runs. The Greensboro boys came back in the ninth with another, but fell short of the mark and the Twins romped homewards with a 4 to 3 triumph.

The game was without feature except the pitching of Swindell, who held the visitors at his mercy, and the sensational work of Carroll at short. Only one earned run was scored off Swindell, while three of those made by the Twins were the consequence of honest, straight forward swatting.

NATIONAL LEAGUE APPROACHING PERIOD OF DECAY.

The National League is now in a period just approaching that of decay, so far as the playing strength is concerned. The American League, with the exception of one club, the Browns, is nearing its final stage of re-construction.

In 1906 the stars in the National League, according to the batting and pitching averages for that season, were Wagner, Steinfeldt, Lumley, Chance, Clarke, Devlin, Huggins, Seymour, Leach, Tenney, Schulte, Bresnahan, Bransfield, Kling, Lobert, Reulbach, Brown, Mathewson and Beebe. The batting and pitching figures for the same year in the American League show the following on top: Stone, Lajoie, Chase, Congalton, Seybold, Flick, Rossman, Murphy, Crawford, Davis, Turner, Grimshaw, Hemphill, Stahl Hickman, Plank, White, Rhoades, Owen, Orth, Altrock and Chesbro.

It can be noted by a casual glance at the unofficial batting and pitching averages for the current season that Wagner, Chance, Clarke, Devlin, Huggins, Leach, Magee, and practically all of the stars of the season of 1906 are on top in 1911 in their league, but that Stone, Congalton, Seybold, Flick, Rossman, Grimshaw, Hickman, Rhoades, Owen, Orth, Altrock and Chesbro of the American League have some time since beat it bat to the minors.

AMERICANS OUTBATTING THE NATIONAL LEAGUERS.

After a further inspection of the batting and pitching averages, it is found that 23 men are hitting .300 or better in the National League, while 47 men own the same percentage in the American League.

Since 1906 Collins, Speaker, Baker, Jackson, McInnes, Lord, Bodie, Wolter, Wagner, Gregg, Coombs, Ford, Krapp, Wood, Lange and Johnson have become stars in the American League. At the same time, the only players who have become bright luminaries in the National League are Luderus, Suggs, Miller, Hoblitzel, Bescher, Konetchy, Doyle, Paskert, Daubert, Murray, Alexander, Marquard, Harmon, Chalmers, Sallee, Mattern and Rucker. And it is stretching one's opinion to consider several of these "stars."

A comparison shows that Cobb, Collins, Jackson, Speaker, Lord, Coombs, Ford, Gregg and Johnson have it on Miller, Hoblitzel, Koney, Doyle, Paskert, Murray, Alexander, Harmon, Mattern and Rucker.

There may be some more or less rabid fans, who are partisans, who will take issue with the choices in which it is shown that the youngsters imported into the American League are superior to those of the rival organization.

But a comparison of stars, old and young, in each league, shows that in spite of the tendency of some to question the superiority of the American over the National League, that Cobb, Jackson, Collins, LaJoie, Speaker, Crawford, Chase, Callahan, Lord, Milan, Gregg, Coombs, Ford, Mullin, Plank, Johnson, Wood, and Walsh are beter ball players than Wagner, Clarke, McLean, Dooin, Bresnahan, Koney, Magee, Schulte, Daubert, Murray, Alexander, Marquard, Harmon, Mattern, Mathewson, Cole and Brown.

Even if these men were on par at the present writing, the younger players should be given the choice over the older players, if only because they have their futures before them and they are younger.

Next year Detroit, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, and New York will have a great race for the pennant, if the battle does not come this season. It must be remembered that the stars of the Chicago, Pittsburg and New York clubs are on the wane. Chance, Evers, Tinker, Schulte, Sheckard, Wagner, Clarke, Leach, Mathewson, Devlin and others on these teams who were at the height of their careers some years ago cannot continue to play "star" baseball forever.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Howard Gardner.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Monday.

Greensboro at Greenville.
Spartanburg at Charlotte.
Anderson at Winston.

Swindell came back.

That game was bad on weak hearts.

Why couldn't our folks keep off those two runs in the eighth?

One or two more runs in the ninth would have made things look ever so much better.

With several hundred fans behind our team today the result of the game will be different.

By winning yesterday Anderson went up above Charlotte and now is Greensboro's next door neighbor looking down the street.

The Greensboro boys must have been doing some good work on bases to get as many runs as they did on so few hits.

Greensboro has the best team in the league beyond any question—without Swindell Winston would be fighting to keep out of the cellar instead of being after the pennant.

Monday the Greensboro team will go to Greenville for three days, and Thursday will return home to play Anderson the rest of the week. The team ought to get four or five games out of the six.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection oven it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

A HORSE TRADE AIRED BEFORE CLERK J. W. FORBIS TODAY

As Result Matter will be Further Aired in Guilford Superior Court.

Before Clerk J. W. Forbis this morning claim and delivery papers were served upon J. F. Swim to ascertain the whereabouts of a horse belonging to C. W. Marrory that the defendant had sold. According to the evidence Swim obtained the horse by exchanging a mule with a man by the name of Long, who had previously borrowed the animal from Marrory. Marrory refused to take the mule and sent him back to Swim, who would not claim him and allowed him to stand before his house for several days without food. Papers were then sworn out, and Swim, learning of the fact, skipped the country. He has just been caught and was placed on the stand in the attempt to make his disclose how he had disposed of the horse.

Swim made a joke of himself on the stand and placed himself in the position to be indicted for perjury. He declared that he had sold the horse but did not know the name of the buyer. The place where the sale had occurred was north of the city but whether 1 mile or 20 miles distant the man could or would not state. As a result of the hearing the case will be tried at the September term of Superior court.

WOULD WED 'SPYDER,' BUT 'SPIDER' WON'T DO

Putative Bridegroom, However, Will Not Again Change Name, Formerly 'Spidovitski.'

Centralia, Wash., Aug. 5.—Willing to wed under normal conditions, but looking askant at marital happiness with the title of "Mrs. Spider," Miss Anna May Christensen, of this city, has just broken off her engagement with Herman Spider.

She has been induced by her friends to reconsider the matter on condition that Mr. Spider changes the third letter of his name to "y" to make it spell "Spyder."

Mr. Spider, however, objects to this arrangement on the ground that he has already changed his name once. It seems that he formerly owned to an elongat-Polish name, Spidovitski, and when he was landing from the old country he assumed the shorter name without realizing its meaning.

He says he has used the name for fourteen years and has become too used to it to care to make a change.

IN OWN PLANE TO FRISCO

D. J. Carter, a Baltimore Man, Knows His Will Fly.

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—Baltimore will have a formidable competitor in the aeroplane race between New York and San Francisco if the plans of D. J. Carter, 2009 Boone street, come to successful issue.

At present Mr. Carter, who has been an enthusiast on aerial navigation since 1890, is completing the details of his machine, which is on the order of the Bleriot. In a short while the inventor will make a trial flight.

April 1 Mr. Carter organized the Baltimore Monoplane Company, which was incorporated under the laws of South Dakota and has a capital stock of $300,000. It is the purpose of this company to manufacture airships which will carry passengers and also to establish a line between this city and Washington. The factory is located at 793 West Mulberry street.

"I became interested in aerial flight in 1890," said Mr. Carter today, "and I built an aeroplane before Professor Langley tried out his machine at Washington. For 20 years and more I have been perfecting the details of my invention and now I have worked out a machine which I know will be a success. The models have been satisfactory and as soon as I try the first aeroplane out I will have it patented.

"The monoplane will be built of spruce and ash and will have aluminum trimmings. We will use a 50-horsepower Gnome engine, capable of driving the machine 60 miles an hour."

The board of directors of the Monoplane Company consists of D. J. Carter, Edward Wolsheimer, W. L. Anderson and Dr. J. B. Sebastian.

Mr. Carter has spent most of his life in the study of novelties. Te invented a coal-oil burner during the coal strike several years ago.

Smelled Gas; Saved Lodger.

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—Aroused at two o'clock yesterday morning by the smell of gas, Mrs. Mary Kelly, who conducts a boarding house at 2428 East Fayette street, left her room, and, going to that of her only lodger, Franz Lohle, found the door open. Being sure that she had heard Lohle enter the house early in the evening, she started a search which led her to the bathroom.

After repeated attempts to force the door, she ran down into the street and called to her next-door neighbor, Frederick Buner.

It took Buner about two minutes to break in the bathroom door. In a tub which was filled to overflowing he saw the form of Lohle. Both gas jets were turned on and the window closed. While Buner dragged the unconscious man from the room Mrs. Kelly ran to Dr. Frederick Wilkins. After working over Lohle for two hours the doctor was rewarded by signs of returning life. Dr. Wilkins then telephoned for the Northeastern Police ambulance and had Lohle removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Lewis has been commissioned by President Taft to represent the District of Columbia. Governor Kitchin has commissioned a number of prominent negroes to represent North Carolina. President J. B. Dudley of the A. & M. College is on the program to deliver an address upon the Morbidity and the Mortality of the American Negro.

The North Carolina delegation leaves the state Wednesday, August 9.

The object of the Congress is purely educational and strictly non-political.

Pitchers may come and pitchers may go but the "growler" is rushed forever.

Tin Can His Death Cap.

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—Despondent over his unsuccessful efforts to obtain employment, Samuel P. Warnick, 21 years old, 347 South Bentalou street, Southwest Baltimore, invented an ingenious death-dealing contrivance yesterday, and with the aid of gas he ended his life while his bride of less than a year was away from home.

Warnick did not intimate to anyone, not even his wife, that he intended to end his life, but he deliberately set to work and carried out his plans. Death came quickly. He converted an ordinary three-pound tin can into a death cap and, after turning on the gas, he fastened the an about his mouth and lay down on a bench, from which he never arose.

Mrs. Warnick, on returning from a visit to her mother's home, found her husband dead. Her screams were heard by scores of persons in the neighborhood. Coroner Blake, of the Southwestern district, made an examination of the body and gave a certificate of death by suicide.
